DETAILED ACTION

1. Claims 1-51 are presented for examination.

Election/Restrictions

2. Claims 1-51 comprise various independent claims and corresponding dependent claims. Applicant's specification specifically sets forth aspects of different embodiments. Each set of claims recites a distinct permutation of these disclosed embodiments. For example, the following are some of the embodiments disclosed (and claimed):

Embodiment A: Directed toward monitoring individual instances of a process and identifiably maintaining the collected data for the individual instances (Page 2, lines 27-28 of the specification).

Embodiment B: Directed toward monitoring the start and stop times of the activity and computing a duration (Page 3, lines 13-14 of the specification).

Embodiment C: Directed toward a message translator that translates or maps the message with various message formats into a format of a queue used to initiate and track activities. Messages from the queue are translated to the appropriate format of the recipient computer system (Page 3, lines 20-23 of the specification).

Embodiment D: Directed toward monitoring network traffic into and out of the queue (Page 3, lines 24-26).

Embodiment F: Directed toward identifiably maintaining activities of an instance of the business process in a data store such that the instance can be analyzed by its constituent activities.

3. This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species:

Species I: Combination of Embodiments A + B + E (claims 1-8, 46 -- claim 46 mirrors claim 1 and will therefore be grouped with Species I even though it does not currently incorporate embodiments B and E)

Species II: Combination of Embodiments A + D (claims 9-11)

Species III: Combination of Embodiments B + C + F (claims 12-20)

Species IV: Combination of Embodiments B + E (claims 21-45)

Species V: Combination of Embodiments A + C (claims 47-51)

The species are independent or distinct because the different species are directed toward a unique permutation of the disclosed embodiments. None of the species is fully inclusive of the other species nor is any single embodiment common to all species; therefore, Applicant effectively asserts that each embodiment or a recited combination of various embodiments is separately patentable. If Examiner has erred in her interpretation, then Applicant should explain which species are obvious variants of one another and why.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, no claim is generic.

Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of an allowable generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

4. Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

Art Unit: 3623

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions or species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions or species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C.103(a) of the other invention.

5. Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).

6. Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Susanna M. Diaz whose telephone number is (571) 272-6733. The examiner can normally be reached on Monday-Friday, 10 am - 6 pm.
